AMERICAN SAVINGS BANK, FSB

ISSUE 3 VOLUME 1

So, there's more to being green in June than cutting your grass. . .

If you're like me, one of your desk drawers is full of old check registries, statements and boxes of old checks. It's not sentiment that leads you to hold on to these things - who wants to remember bills you've paid? For most people it's just that they don't know how long to hold on to old documents. Banking has changed a lot over the years and one of the things we're able to provide you with digital images of both your checks AND your statements. You don't need to keep documents more than one tax year old. We at American Savings Bank trust Livingston & Co. with our document shredding and urge you to purge your old documents at their free document destruction event June 1-6. Identity theft is a real issue, so please don't just toss documents with your personal info in your trash. Trust the experts that we do to keep your information safe!

e-statements are coming. . .

Money Trivia

Why is money green?

Most of the world's money is not green and until the Civil War, the US did not have green money either.

During the Civil War, the US Treasury Department developed a special green ink that would make counterfeiting more difficult. It was used on the back of all currency (hence the term "greenbacks"). Ever since that time, 1862, US currency has been green.

Meet Carlisa Baker
ASB VP Operations

Carlisa has been at American Savings Bank most of her life. Literally! Under fear of reprisal, I will just say that she began working at ASB when she was in high school. I'll leave out the number of years of service. Suffice it to say, she's a staple of the organization.

Carlisa, originally from West Portsmouth, currently resides with her husband R.D. (of Minford High School teaching & coaching fame) and son Trenton in Portsmouth. Carlisa is also very proud of her daughter, Tayler, who will be starting her junior year at the Ohio State University in the fall. Rounded out with many children of the four-footed variety, the Baker home is one full of activity!

Carlisa is vital to the operations of the Bank, as she oversees all Accounting Department activities and is the IT guru.

Carlisa, in the little free time she has away from the bank, loves to read, search for treasures "thrifting" and doesn't mind sitting on a beach with a drink that needs a tiny umbrella.
